NUMBER 29.

Norway's Lapidary.

Oxford County has, since the discovery of tourmalines at Paris Hill in 1820, been before the world as a producer of gems. Some gem cutting has been done in the county before but the foremost lapidary, past or present, in the county and in the State is that of Robert F. Bickford, near the southern end of Main street.

Here one may see in the native stock and cut into brilliant sparkling gems all the products of our native hills. There are topazes in white and yellow; the beautiful and very rare, golden beryl; aqua marines shading from the faint tints to deep bluish green; tourmalines of nearly all shades and colors and cæsium beryl, comparable to the diamond in brilliancy.

Aside from the Maine stock there are gems from Montana, North Carolina, Texas, California, Mexico, Brazil and Madagascar.

One thing of interest was a collection of replicas of all the great diamonds in the world except the Cullinan.

One may take a stone he has been fortunate enough to find himself and make a selection from the mount stock and within an hour and a half see Mr. Bickford produce a perfect cut gem. This process is interesting. First the rough stone is sawed up on a rapidly revolving steel wheel into the edge of which diamond dust has been ground. Then the section is stuck by means of wax on a stick called a jim-stick and ground nearly round against a rough carborundum stone.

It is next attached to a spindle and the top or crown of the gem is cut and made perfectly round. The facets are then put on. The angles have previously been figured to best bring out the quality of the gem. The angle is kept the same by a machine and the grinding surface is raised. This is a ticklish job as a little too deep grinding will ruin the stone. After the crown is cut and shaped, comes the polishing process. The other end or pavilion of the gem is then cut and polished the same way.

The polishing of gems is a secret process. No two lapidaries use the same method. This is probably the only shop where the general public is allowed to watch the work as the secrets are carefully guarded.

Mr. Bickford has just issued a booklet entitled, "To Gem Lovers, Wherever They May Be," which is very interesting, giving a brief history of some of the gems of Maine, especially of Oxford County, and also with the prices, scale of hardness and the birthstones and their language.

Boy Scout Echoes.

The smaller boys' division of the Boy Scouts will go into camp at Gibson Grove, Wednesday, July 15, for a two days' outing. It is expected that about 30 of the boys will attend this camp.

Instruction in the different camp arts will be given and a large portion of the time will be given to games.

All the Boy Scouts are receiving instruction in swimming. Some of the boys, who at the beginning of the season, were unable to swim, can now make a creditable showing. The importance of learning how to swim can not be over emphasized.

Four or five new recruits have been added to the Boy Scouts the past week.

Thursday evening, July 9, Talbot Mundy gave a lecture to the patrol of Boy Scouts on British East Africa. This was supplemented by a hundred photographs, these being all left of 4,000 photos taken by Mr. Mundy, the remainder being at the bottom of the Maita river in East Africa. For four years Mr. Mundy was district commissioner of a large territory cornering Lake Victoria Nyanza.

Mr. Mundy told the slave trade and how it was suppressed by the seizing of this country by the English and the building of a railroad, which enabled them to suppress the evil at its source.

2,000 Indian Coolies had to be imported from India as the inhabitants were too lazy to do the work. He also told about the habits and characteristics of the different animals, showing that stories about the ferocity of the lions, and other animals, have been exaggerated.

About fifty of the boys attended and were very much interested as Mr. Mundy is a very interesting talker.

The division of large boys of the Boy Scouts is planning a three or four days' hike into the country, route not decided as yet.

"The policy of every man in business, and who must live by the public, should be to let the public hear of him. The best speaking-trumpet is the newspaper advertisement. In a populous community and a rapid age like this, every trader must make himself heard and known, otherwise he will fall behind the progress of his neighbors."

The officers of the N. H. S. and Norway Literary Institute are hearing from many of the old graduates who are planning to attend the Alumni banquet and ball which occurs Aug. 19th.

Mr. Carl E. Stone and Beatrice Stone are going to Northwood to visit Dr. John G. French at his summer home.

Veranda Club Birthday Party.

On Saturday evening, July 11th, at the home of the president, Mrs. Jennie Spring, was observed the birthdays of several of the club members, as follows: Mrs. Jennie Spring, Mrs. Martha Rowe, Mrs. Maggie Libby, Mrs. Eva L. Fogg and Mrs. J. Alta Sheen.

The evening outside was anything but agreeable, but this was in no way a hindrance to the party as a good attendance assembled in the spacious living room in the early evening. Those who were present by invitation were Mrs. Martha Anderson, Mrs. Lelliah Black, Mrs. Harriett Morse, Martin Libby, Mrs. Herman Richardson, Gussie Spring and Master Ralph Murdoch.

At 8.30 p. m. the party marched to the dining room, where twenty-two club members and invited friends, after uniting in the Lord's Prayer, sat down to a splendid supper, consisting of mashed potato, cold meat, cucumbers, lettuce, raised rolls, doughnuts, assorted cake, salads, fruits, jellies, prune whip, lemon, custard and whipped cream pies, fruit and coffee. After all had done justice to the good things, strawberry ice cream was served and last of all, the birthday cake.

The cake was decorated with the club colors, yellow and white, and when presented to the party before being served, was beautiful to look upon. At the conclusion of the supper the party adjourned to the living room, which was decorated with roses and cut flowers. The same decorations were placed at each end of the table which added to the general effect.

The vice president, Mrs. Addie Hill, presented Mrs. Jennie Spring with a silver berry ladle, one pair of linen tray cloths, gifts from the club; also a beautiful lace collar from Mrs. Martha Anderson.

Mrs. Sam Pease, black kid glove from the club, a black wrist bag from Alice Hooley of Lynn. Mrs. Alta Sheen received a birthday book and white silk waist was the club gift to Mrs. Martha Rowe, and white linen table cloth from the club to Mrs. Maggie Libby.

Those who entertained were also remembered with birthday cards from all club members. At a late hour the party came to a close, bidding one and all a pleasant good night, knowing that we shall enjoy a similar event in the new future.

CONVINCING TESTIMONY

Given by Many Norway People.

Experiences told by Norway people—Those who have had weak kidneys—Who used Doan's Kidney Pills—Who found the remedy effective—Such statements prove merit.

You might doubt an utter stranger. You must believe Norway people. Here's Norway proof. Verify it. Read. Investigate. Be convinced. You'll find why Norway folks believe in Doan's.

"It gives me pleasure to verify my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills," says Mrs. Persis A. Walker, of Cottage St., Norway. "They have done me a lot of good. I got Doan's Kidney Pills when I was feeling miserable from kidney disorders. This remedy helped me in a short time and I continued its use until I was well."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Walker had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Fourth of July Celebration.

The Fourth of July celebration was very successful in every way. There was a good attendance through the day and an unusually large crowd in the evening.

The weather was cool and pleasant. A fine dinner and supper was served by the Grange. Fruit, confectionery, lemonade and ice cream was on sale through the day and evening, with dancing to good music afternoon and evening.

Everyone seemed to have a good time. The fantastic parade though small was excellent. Particularly noticeable was the team prettily decorated with flags and bunting and loaded with ladies and gentlemen and boys and girls, who were singing American songs along the street; the equestrians, with their fancy costumes; the Swedish girls and ladies in trained dresses with odd bonnets; the crinolene lady in white with a hat with a "flower garden" on it, who made love to all the gentlemen in the line, even dancing with one of them; the donkey team with its pair of lovers who were very devoted to each other excepting when their steed would balk, when the swain would have to descend from the highly decorated carriage to assist his steed to move on, even having to resort to a dose of medicine at the last to help him start. The donkey must have stepped on the gentlemen's foot as he was very lame as he disappeared down the street.

There were the usual amount of noises by young America and the firecrackers, altogether an enjoyable Fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. McKee of Fryeburg, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Walker and children and Mrs. Annie Reald of Lovell have been with Mrs. Hutchins at the old home, also called upon this vicinity and Casco way.

Myrtle Ballard of Fryeburg has visited her aunt, Mrs. Ethel Watson.

Alphonso McAllister of Lynchville is visiting his mother, Mrs. S. K. McAllister.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Adams and children were at Harry Hills', over the Fourth.

HOW CHILDREN GROW

Children grow by nourishment—not overloaded stomachs or rich foods but qualities that are readily converted into life-sustaining blood; too often their digestive powers cannot procure these qualities from ordinary foods which results in weakness, dullness and sickness.

If your children are under-size, under-weight, catch cold easily, are languid, backward, pale or frail, give them Scott's Emulsion which is pure medicinal nourishment. It sharpens the appetite, builds healthy flesh, firm muscles and active brains. Scott's is growing-food for children. Refuse alcoholic substitutes.

La Grippe

THE DEADLY WEAKENER.

La Grippe in itself is seldom fatal. But the weakness, lassitude and loss of appetite induced by it leaves the system easy prey to the ravages of other ills.

"L. F." Atwood's Medicine is an unfailing remedy for these dangerous after-effects. It tones up the entire system, builds up the appetite and restores strength.

Mrs. Croxford's letter tells the whole story:

Carmel, Maine:

"I was very poorly after an attack of La Grippe. A friend recommended 'L. F.' Atwood's Medicine and I got a bottle. It has done me lots of good. I shall always keep it on hand."

FRYEBURG.

A Kitchen Shower

A novel and entertaining affair took place at the home of Mrs. M. E. Lakin on Tuesday afternoon from three to five o'clock, when Blanch Thoms was given a kitchen shower by Mrs. Lakin and Mrs. G. E. Fox, in view of her approaching marriage to Harold Russell of Portland, which will take place early in the autumn.

The house was decorated with mountain laurel and ferns. After the guests had arrived a telephone message brought Miss Thoms who came unsuspecting the reason for the summons. Upon her arrival she was handed a card bearing a rhyme directing her to the place where the first gift was concealed. Similar directions aided her in finding a total of 33 articles which were hidden in all manner of places about the house.

After the gifts had been collected, Miss Thoms opened and examined them reading aloud the attached rhymes, to the amusement of the assembled guests.

After the shower the entertainment was called to the rainbow of promise which had appeared on the dining table with a pot of gold at either end. Delicious refreshments consisting of sherbet, cake, fruit punch and wafers were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Harold Perkins.

Those present were: Mrs. Harold Perkins, Mrs. N. C. Thurlow, Mrs. J. W. Hutchins, Mrs. J. W. Eastman, Mrs. Herbert Lovell, Mrs. A. Pike, Mrs. Walter Burnell, Mrs. Francis Swan, Mrs. Frank Thoms, Mrs. Frank Dwyer, Margaret Waterhouse, Althea Cameron, Mary Hastings, Abbie Ballard, Blanch Ballard, Amy Ballard, Abbie Smith, Anne Spring, Ruth Glines, Mrs. C. E. Fox, Mrs. M. E. Lakin, and the guest of honor, Blanch Thoms.

Mrs. Charles Howe is ill with sciatic rheumatism.

Lizzie Shirley of Boston is spending the month of July as the guest of Mrs. M. B. Barker.

Florence Spring and Annie Spring are guests of Mrs. Blanche Paige.

Mrs. Frank Sawtelle, who has been visiting her son at Horizon, Wis., also relatives in Lafayette, Ind., for nine months past, has returned to Fryeburg and is with her daughter, Mrs. James Eastman.

Hon. A. A. Peary spoke at the Congregational church, Sunday, on Observance of Heavenly Visions.

Etta Hutchinson, who has been at her home in Old Town, has returned and is boarding at Mrs. S. Howe's.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dresser of Portland are spending their vacation at the Argue Not.

A public whist party was held Friday afternoon by the ladies of the Woman's Library club for the benefit of the library.

EAST FRYEBURG.

E. E. Hodson is able to be out of doors a little while at a time. The neighbors had a hoeing bee for him one day recently.

Milton Lord is at work for J. J. Pike. Mrs. A. E. Lord is ill.

Mildred Cole is at work for Mrs. E. W. Pike.

Howard Cole and a friend from Standish were recent guests of A. E. Cole.

Mrs. Sylvia Smith of Portland is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Hazel Berry.

Helen Tuck of Keever, Mass., and Mrs. Jones and Miss Cornell of Bangor are guests at C. E. Smith's.

Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding of Denmark visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sanborn, Sunday.

E. D. Abbott has a new horse.

Hattie Potter of Fryeburg is visiting her uncle, Ellis Potter.

John Richardson had a shock last Thursday night.

There was a band concert, dance and fireworks at the hall Saturday night, the fourth. The fireworks were fine and there was a large attendance.

Amelia Sanborn with her work, the shower of Sunday night, the 5th, did a lot of damage in this vicinity. The lightning entered the ground near the buildings of Frank Sanborn and shorted off the water supply and went into the houses of Herbert Pendexter, Joe DeMar and Mrs. Abbie Libby and did some damage to their telephones.

Stops Neuralgia—Kills Pain.

Sloan's Liniment gives instant relief from Neuralgia or Sciatica. It goes straight to the painful part—Soothes the Nerves and Stops the Pain. It is also good for Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Chest Pains and Sprains. You don't need to rub—it penetrates. Mr. J. R. Swinger, Louisville, Ky., writes: "I suffered with quite a severe Neuralgia Headache for four months without any relief. I used Sloan's Liniment for two or three head aches. Get a bottle to-day. It cured me in the house all the time for pains and all hurts. 25c, 50c and $1.00, at your Druggist."

OTISFIELD.

Stephen Lewis Knight.

Stephen Lewis Knight passed away June 19, at the home of Bell Hill at the age of 74 years. He was born and has always lived in Otisfield. He leaves a wife and one sister, Mrs. Sybil Lamb of East Otisfield, and a brother in Massachusetts.

Stephen Lewis, as he was more commonly known, was a good musician and an accomplished violinist, playing till his health failed at nearly all the public entertainments and dances in this and surrounding towns.

He was a painter by trade but found time to indulge in his favorite pastime of composing and arranging music or playing upon his beloved instrument.

He was ever kind of heart and a lover of nature and his friends will always remember his rare characteristic humor, his pleasant words and the smooth sweetness of his touch upon the violin.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. W. W. Laite, assisted by Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Wright with instrumental music.

BOLSTER'S MILLS

A Patriotic Meeting.

There was a large attendance at the Saturday evening session of the Grange July 3, the meeting being open to the public during the program.

The exercises were of a patriotic nature as befitting the occasion, and included singing America by the choir, a song by A. W. Weston and one by Ethel Jillson who responded to an encore, a flag drill by eight ladies, a reading by Earle Warren, concluding with music and drum accompaniment, reading of original verses by Mrs. Elizabeth Scribner and illustrated song, Tonting Tonight. The tableaux in connection with the song were very realistic and made a good finale to an unusually fine program.

Eben Scribner of Somerville and his grand niece, Mildred Scribner, are at A. F. Chute's for the summer.

Harry Lowell and family were at Mrs. Lowell's old home over the week-end. Ida and Edith will remain several weeks.

Mrs. Russell Edwards and children passed the week-end with Mrs. John Hancock.

John Hancock visited his father at Norway recently.

M. E. Holman of Otisfield was in the village selling strawberries recently.

Mr. Holman makes farming profitable and their products of his farm are always first-class.

Mrs. Manson Jillson of Woodford is visiting at Sumner Skilling's.

The Fourth passed very quietly even the "night before" for which we were duly grateful. The base ball club went to Harrison and played with the local club in the forenoon, score 8 to 3 in favor of the Harrisonians.

The people of Haskell's hill came down in two large carts with a fine array of fanatics and delighted the villagers who gathered to witness their antics. They spared neither time nor pains in preparing the parade and the dwellers in the valley certainly appreciated this pleasing feature of the day.

OXFORD.

Carl Green and wife of Waterville came Friday night to spend the fourth with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Eaton.

Beth Morris and Edie Thomas have gone to Yarmouth where they will do tablework.

Geo. Seider and wife of Portland spent the fourth with her mother, Mrs. Hattie Farnham.

Lester Faunce and family, formerly of Oxford, but now of Somersworth, N. H., called on old friends the fourth. They came to see the family.

Geo. Morris spent Saturday and Sunday with his family. He works in Hall-lwell.

Rev. Mr. Foster died suddenly Saturday night of the fourth. He had been failing some time, but no one thought the end was so near. He leaves a widow and two daughters, Mrs. G. B. Turner of Oxford and Mrs. John Kemp of Otisfield.

Walter Bean and sister Ethel left for the mountains Monday. They go there summers and to Florida winters.

SOUTH WATERFORD.

The Old-fashioned Singing School. The old-fashioned singing school, which was a much honored institution in the last century and from immemorial old Colony times, has, in the latter days fallen into disuse and is now more honored in the memory of its former patrons, who are yet living than in its annual observance as a means of culture of the natural musical talent of New England people.

But, as history is said to repeat itself, this ancient system of acquiring musical knowledge and improving the vocal powers for singing, has the present summer witnessed a notable revival in this village. In the early part of May a class of pupils numbering about 20 was organized and a course of instruction was commenced under the tuition of Hazel Foster of Norway, the teacher in the grammar school at North Waterford.

It is but justice to say that Miss Foster, though a well educated musician as a vocalist and had experience of teaching the elements of music and practical singing in the Norway and Waterford public schools, had misgivings about undertaking to instruct a class of adults on rudiments and in advanced practice. But taking counsel of her courage, her professional intelligence and the implicit confidence of her pupil friends, she has fulfilled all the expectations of this community, and on Monday evening, July 6, a public concert given by Miss Foster's singing class, came off at Grange Hall, with the following program:

The call to arms.....Chorus
Piano solo.....Doris Foster
Singing solo.....Mrs. Nellie Stone
Vocal solo.....Margaret Sias
Vocal solo.....Katherine Stone
Vocal solo.....Doris Foster
The clang of bells.....Chorus
Vocal solo.....Margaret Sias
Reading.....Dorothy Simpson
The morning.....Chorus
The singing school was materially reinforced in its concert preparations by the presence and assistance of Pearl and Doris Foster of Norway, sisters of the teacher. They were guests of Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Sias and of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Smith.

Harriet Smith was the very efficient accompanist on piano, for all the chorus and song recitals in the late Singing School Exhibition Concert.

Death of Melville E. Ingalls

Noted Resident and Financier in Harrison in 1842

Melville E. Ingalls, financier, died at his home on Saturday, July 11th.

Mr. Ingalls was born in Hallowell, Me., in 1842. He was educated at Bridgton and for a time studied at Bowdoin College, but soon removed to Harvard in 1863, and also received the degree of A.M. from Harvard in 1865. He began work in 1867 as a member of the Massachusetts Senate.

In 1870 Mr. Ingalls entered business.

HON. MELVILLE E. INGALLS.

Death of Melville E. Ingalls.

Noted Resident and Financier was Born in Harrison in 1842.

Melville E. Ingalls, financier and railroad magnate, died at Hot Springs, Va., on Saturday, July 11th.

Mr. Ingalls was born in Harrison, Sept. 6, 1842. He was reared on a farm and was educated at Bridgton Academy and for a time studied at Bowdoin College. He received the degree of LL.B. from Harvard in 1863, and also received the honorary degree of A.M. from Bowdoin in 1902. He began to practice law at Gray, but soon removed to Boston, where in 1867 he became a member of the Massachusetts Senate.

In 1870 Mr. Ingalls entered the railway business.

Becomes Head of a Railroad

In 1871 he was appointed receiver of the Indianapolis, Cincinnati & Lafayette R.R., and moved to the Middle West. He reorganized the company and in 1873 became the president of the road. In August, 1876, it failed again and he was once more appointed receiver.

Out of this ruin in 1880 rose the Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis & Chicago R.R., of which he was elected president. In 1889, this road and the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati & Indianapolis R.R. were consolidated under the name of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis R.R., more popularly known as the "Big Four." Mr. Ingalls was elected chairman of the board of directors.

From Oct. 1, 1888, until February, 1900, he was also president of the Chesapeake & Ohio R.R., and from January, 1881, to October, 1883, he was president of the Kentucky Central R.R. He was also president of the Merchants' National Bank in Cincinnati.

As president of the Chesapeake & Ohio R.R., in which office he succeeded C. P. Huntington, he laid out the campaign which resulted in a through route from the Lakes to the sea at Newport News.

Father of Fruit Traffic Association.

Mr. Ingalls' greatest single achievement was the formation of the Joint Fruit Traffic Association, which was an organization formed for the maintaining uniform rates.

The U. S. Supreme Court held that it was in conflict with the Interstate Commerce and Anti-Trust laws. Out of the dissolution of the Joint Fruit Traffic Association grew the community of interest idea, which thus far has held its own against assault.

In politics Mr. Ingalls was a Democrat.

In 1904 he was discussed as a candidate for the Presidential nomination from conservative Democrats.

In 1905 he was president of the National Civic Federation.

In the second Cleveland Administration, Mr. Ingalls, having aided in electing Mr. Cleveland, advised the President in favor of conciliatory methods in dealing with the leaders antagonistic to Mr. Cleveland. He did his best to discourage aggressive tactics against the majority of Democrats in Congress.

In 1896 Mr. Ingalls was personally a sound-money man, but did not enter conspicuously into the campaign. In a speech which he delivered to his "fellow employees" of the Chesapeake & Ohio R.R., and "Big Four" R.R., in August of that year, he said he had received copies of newspapers containing the charge that the employees of his railroads were going to be coerced into voting the McKinley ticket. He asked the employees to read everything they could get hold of on the questions before the country, and then vote as they thought wisest.

"If, after studying the whole subject, you decide to vote for Bryan and Sevier against what we of the management consider to be the best interests of our railroad, and any one discharges you for so voting, come to me, and I will discharge the man who discharged you, and put you back," Mr. Ingalls said. This declaration is said to have disarmed a good deal of the anti-railroad and pro-Bryan sentiment and to have been more effective in winning votes away from the radical ticket than any amount of coercion could have been.

He had been in feeble health for a long time, and had practically retired from business activity. He was at Hot Springs for his health. On July 8, he suffered from an ulcerated tooth, and the shock of treatment was the cause of his death three days later. He became unconscious soon after receiving and was only roused once or twice before he died.

Laid to Rest.

The body was taken to Cincinnati on a special train, and the funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at the Unitarian church there. Burial was in the family plot in Cincinnati.

Besides the widow and daughter, Mr. Ingalls is survived by four sons, Melville E. Ingalls, Jr., and Fay Ingalls, of New York, George H. Ingalls of Chicago and Albert S. Ingalls of Cleveland.

W. C. Brown, in question just about dinner time, he walked straight over to where the kitchen door was located. At the very door he encountered two muscular-looking men carrying a huge steam boiler.

"Put that kettle down," he ordered, brusquely, and the men at once obeyed.

"Get me a spoon," he next commanded.

The man who brought the spoon was about to say something, but was ordered to keep silent.

"Take off the lid," was the next command. "I am going to taste it."

The two men were utterly cowed by the official's brusqueness and wonderingly watched him gulp down a good mouthful.

"Do you mean to say you call this soup?" the official demanded. "Why it tastes to me more like dirty water."

"So it is, sir," replied one of the men, respectfully. "We were just scrubbing the floors."

SHOULD BE THOUGHTFUL.

The automobile which has had a wonderful record, coming within a very few years as a pleasure and business vehicle, brings about a new and unusual use of the highways. Their owners are still in the minority, and we should remember that the large number who do possess them often find them an inconvenience when they seek to use the roads on foot and with horse drawn vehicles.

The public is tolerant and friendly, and we hear very little of any harsh criticism by the non-users, yet the autoist should strive in every way to make his vehicle a popular one. Very many owners make a special effort to pick up pedestrians when they have a vacant seat in the car and this courtesy always wins a lasting friend for the motor fraternity.

The autoist who is racing along ten or twenty miles an hour, suddenly realizes how much aid he can render by picking up a party whom he finds going his way on foot. It is a courtesy which is due from one man to another at any time and is especially fitting between autoist and a foot traveler.

Size of Eggs, and Age.

The eggs of the pullets which began to lay in the fall increased rapidly in size up to the beginning of the first breeding season. From that time on to the end of the second laying year the weight increased continuously but at a slower and steadily decreasing rate.

The first eggs of a very young pullet (3 months old) were very much smaller than the first eggs of the birds which were two and one-half to four months older when they began to lay.

The first eggs of pullets which did not lay until spring were equal in size to the eggs produced at the same season by birds which had laid during the winter.

The size of the egg of any bird at any season was independent of whether or not she had been laying continuously or in fact of whether or not she had ever laid. It is, therefore, certain that the size of the egg is related to the state of maturity of the bird and is not affected by "practice" or "experience" in egg production.

CORRECT ANALYSIS.

Numerous complaints had come before a certain public official in regard to the quality of food served to the inmates of one of the public institutions, and he determined to investigate for himself in order to see whether the matter really required attention.

Making his way to the particular building in question just about dinner time, he walked straight over to where the kitchen door was located. At the very door he encountered two muscular-looking men carrying a huge steam boiler.

"Put that kettle down," he ordered, brusquely, and the men at once obeyed.

"Get me a spoon," he next commanded.

The man who brought the spoon was about to say something, but was ordered to keep silent.

"Take off the lid," was the next command. "I am going to taste it."

The two men were utterly cowed by the official's brusqueness and wonderingly watched him gulp down a good mouthful.

"Do you mean to say you call this soup?" the official demanded. "Why it tastes to me more like dirty water."

"So it is, sir," replied one of the men, respectfully. "We were just scrubbing the floors."
